"DRYS" SCORE AGAIN IN SEVERE BEER-WINE FIGHT

New Dry Legislation in Congress Will Determine Rules Authorizing Sale of Liquor for Medicinal Purposes by Druggists—Expect Effective Legislation

TREASURY IS FORCED TO HOLD UP RULES

Decision Comes After Conference With Officials—Program is for Speedy Action on Proposed New Amendments to the Existing Volstead Law

By W. H. ATKINS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The "dry" scored heavily today in a fight against beer and wine sales by forcing the treasury to hold up regulations governing malt and vinous liquors.

Action upon a new draft of rules, authorizing druggists sales of such liquors on physicians' prescriptions, was postponed for an indefinite period, pending the results of new "dry" legislation in congress.

The treasury's decision to withhold authority for such liquor sales to the public came after conferences when officials agreed new rules would be premature in view of the prospect of new amendments to the Volstead law nullifying them.

By today's decision, which practically sidetracked carefully drawn regulations, under which breweries would have been allowed to go ahead with speed, making "medicinal" beer with a kick, and sales to the sick, would have been used in amounts of 4 to 8 gallons at one time, the machinery for issuing these classes of non-beverage permits was brought to an abrupt stop. All now depends upon what congress does about beer and wine. The program is for speedy action upon the bill introduced by Representative Volstead, amending the enforcement act, specifically barring beer as a medicinal agent. Hearings on this measure will begin May 12.

MEET TO DISCUSS GOPHER WORRIES

The meeting at the city hall last evening to consider the gopher and his depredations in and about Glendale, was attended by a large number of irate and much tormented victims.

City Forester Frank Marek gave an exhaustive account of the damage done by gophers and supported his statements by statistics and reports from government bulletins. He also reviewed the various means employed to exterminate this pest, and advised as to which were the best ones to use.

It was the opinion of some who had studied the matter that only a well-carried out plan of concerted action would be effective. As this does not seem practicable at the present time it was suggested by City Manager Watson that bulletins and instructions on gopher extermination be sent out by the city to aid in driving the gophers out of Glendale.

FINE ATTRACTION AT GLENDALE THEATER

Clara Kimball Young, an artist of the rarest grace and most captivating charm, is featured in the ultra-smart picture of the season, "Straight From Paris." A veritable "straight from Paris" feature, this picture, "The story was written by Sada Cowan, author of "Why Change Your Wife," "Hush," and other screen successes.

Another feature of this program is a presentation of a reissue of D. W. Griffith's fastest moving two-reel sensation, "The Battle of Elderbush Gulch," in which May Marsh and Lillian Gish, considered by many one of the very best actresses on the stage today.

A Pathé Review and a Roll comedy complete the bill at the Glendale theater today.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR TOURNAMENT

Glendale and Burbank Will Be Hosts to All of Southern California on July 2, 3 and 4—One Hundred and Fortieth Anniversary of Independence

At a noon luncheon at Hotel Clark yesterday, plans were considered for a three-day tournament in celebration of the 140th anniversary of American independence, to take place July 2, 3 and 4, with Glendale and Burbank as hosts to all of Southern California.

A previous preliminary meeting was held at a luncheon at the White Inn last Saturday, attended by officials of Glendale and Burbank, representatives of the National Guard companies of both cities, the American Legion and the Red Cross.

It was decided at yesterday's meeting to assemble again at a luncheon at the White Inn on Saturday, when a decision will be made as to the practicability of the plan.

If it is judged to be a feasible one, committees will be appointed immediately to put in motion the combined efforts of the entire community to make the project a success.

Present at yesterday's meeting were: Dr. A. E. W. Yale, post commander, American Legion, Burbank; L. B. Taylor, Burbank Commercial Club; E. C. Kiefer, post commander, American Legion, Glendale; Allen Watt, captain Hollywood company, National Guard; Mrs. M. M. Calkins, Glendale Press; Charles L. Munro, director Burbank chamber of commerce; Judge J. P. Maurer, Burbank; H. R. Romero, secretary Burbank chamber of commerce; H. R. Ling, publicity committee Commercial Club, Burbank; W. H. C. Greene, editor, Pathfinder, Burbank; W. P. Coffman, Commercial Club, Burbank; A. W. Seudder, post commander G. A. R., Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank; Thomas L. Hull, G. A. R., Glendale; F. C. Ostrander, trustee city of Burbank; J. H. MacDonald, captain Hollywood company, National Guard; E. W. Clark, lieutenant colonel, military division head, board of education, Southern California; Robert C. Cotton, major, United States army, National Guard instructor, this district; James M. Rhoades, secretary Glendale chamber of commerce; Dwight W. Stephenson, mayor of Glendale; Thomas W. Watson, Glendale city manager; M. P. Vestal, major, United States army, military instructor, Loyola College; Mrs. John Robert White, secretary Red Cross, Glendale; L. T. Rowley, chamber of commerce, Glendale; W. A. Blanchard, mayor, Burbank; Raymond Wells, captain Burbank Company National Guard; Thomas D. Watson, captain Glendale Company, National Guard; Colonel Kopp, military affairs committee, Los Angeles chamber of commerce; representatives from Southern Pacific and Los Angeles newspapers; A. R. Eastman, banker of Glendale; representative of Burbank Review; A. T. Cowan, editor Glendale Evening News.

HONOR FOR STUDENT OF GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL

Glendale Wins Second Place in Nation-Wide Contest at Mothers' Congress

TWO LOCAL POSTERS

Dr. Jessie A. Russell Sends Telegram to Prof. Moyle Announcing Award

A telegram which brought a glow of pride to Principal George U. Moyle of Glendale high and great satisfaction to Miss Irene Mueller, head of the art department, arrived this morning from Washington, D. C., which read as follows:

Washington, D. C., April 30, 1921.
Prof. George U. Moyle,
322 East Harvard street, Glendale.

Prizes nation-wide poster contest auspices National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations awarded at convention here. High schools, Oakland, first; Glendale, second; Grammar schools, Berkeley, third; Roswell, N. M., second. Congratulations many. Laudatory comments for Glendale exhibitors. Please give information to city and local papers.

Dr. JESSIE A. RUSSELL.

Those who were present at the monthly meeting of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations held a few weeks ago will well remember the exhibit of 14 posters made by art students of Glendale high from which were to be selected to represent the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in that city prizes having been offered for the posters adjudged to be the best.

That Glendale should have won second place in a poster contest covering the entire United States is no small honor. John Cotton, local artist, and Miss Chamberlain, head of the art department of Intermediate and selected the entries of Ralph Von Hoopbeke and of Clara Robinson to be sent to the capital city.

Ralph's slogan was "Hot Lunches for Undernourished Children," and his illustration included a brown jug from which steam was arising flanked by a plate of lettuce sandwiches, an orange being worked out in brown, orange and lavender. Clara Robinson's was an attractive garden theme with the slogan, "Garden plots make healthy tots." The telegram does not give the name of the winner, so which of these two students captured the honor is not known.

Miss Mueller says the award is as pleasant as it is unexpected for less pains and effort were taken with this set of posters than with most of the work along this line turned out by her students. It was simply all in the day's work, and marks the average rather than the exceptional quality. Dr. Russell is chairman of one of the most important committees in the national organization and we can imagine what a pleasure it was to her to have students from her home city make such a showing.

MUSIC FEDERATION HAS MANY NEW CLUBS

Annual Election Preceded by Dinner Last Evening at Masonic Temple

INSTALLATION MAY 23

Guests Will Be Families and Friends of Members of the Commandery

At the Monday morning session of the California Federation of Music Clubs at Hotel Alexandria, over which Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of this city, first vice president, presided, 29 new clubs were voted into membership, swelling the enrollment to a total of 61, most of them Southern California organizations.

As Mrs. Jones is chairman of extension and junior club committees, this response must have been highly gratifying. Musical events during the afternoon included a recital by two winners in the young artist contest, and fine chorus work by the Philomela Chorus of Redlands.

The social event of the day was a rather splendid reception to officers and delegates at Hotel Alexandria in the evening.

The musical program at the Wednesday morning session will feature American music, under direction of George Edwards, chairman, with Vernon Spencer, leading. There will be a program by the Zoellner quartet, and "Cain," a dramatic scene, the words and music of which were written by Rupert Hughes, will be presented by Laurence Tibbatts, baritone, with the company at the piano.

In the afternoon an auto drive will entertain delegates ending at the beautiful home of Dean Mason, president of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, where tea will be served.

In the evening a grand concert will be given at Trinity auditorium, the receipts of which will go to the educational fund of the federation. The program has already been outlined in this paper and tickets are said to be in such request, that the Los Angeles supply has been exhausted.

BUSINESS OF GLENDALE FURNITURE CO. SOLD

Charles A. Flagg, who has been engaged in real estate, loan and insurance business in Pasadena, has become proprietor of Glendale and furniture company at 606 East Broadway. He expects to be joined by his family in the near future and to be permanently located here.

C. OF C. SECRETARIES MEET IN CATALINA

Secretary Rhoades of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce spent the weekend at Catalina, where he attended a meeting of chamber of commerce secretaries of Southern California. About 40 were present and many subjects of interest were discussed, such as chamber advertising, foreign travel, change of ideas, etc., one of the most interesting themes being how to build a city better instead of bigger.

WILLIAM MORAN PASSES AWAY TODAY

Billy Moran, who has been living at the Victor Hotel for some years, died this morning in the Golden State Hospital of paralysis. He was a familiar figure on the Pacific Electric right of way, Glendale line, for many years as track foreman. He and his bunch of Mexicans could level up a track in the shortest time on record.

MALE STUDENTS ARE TAUGHT DISHWASHING

(By International News Service)
PITTSBURG, Kan., May 3.—Dishwashing for men has been added to the curriculum of the Pittsburgh Normal Training School.

Dean Hattie Moore Mitchell has installed a system in the cafeteria by which the boys and girls who patronize it not only wait upon themselves but also are their own "dishwashers."

This plan enables the students to get their meals cheaper than they otherwise could do and at the same time gives them the opportunity to become expert "pearl divers."

Many male students attend the institution.

TRY TO SOLVE BABY'S IDENTITY

(By International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Police tried vainly today to solve the mystery of the identity of a little fair-haired, blue-eyed baby boy, aged apparently about 14 months, whose body was found floating in the waters of the bay off Fort Mason late yesterday.

There were no marks of violence and physicians estimated the child had been in the water less than an hour. He was fully clothed from his slightly scuffed baby shoes to a tidy silk bonnet tied with a pink silk bow under his chin. No children have been reported missing and no clue obtained to indicate how the body came to be in the bay.

The clothing bore no marks except that it had been carefully made from good materials.

DANIEL CAMPBELL IS TOYKO MARU BURNS; ELECTED EMINENT COMMANDER

Annual Election Preceded by Dinner Last Evening at Masonic Temple

INSTALLATION MAY 23

Guests Will Be Families and Friends of Members of the Commandery

Last evening, members of Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, dined at the temple as usual preceding their regular meeting.

It was an unusual occasion, however, as the annual election took place which elevated to the post of commander, Sir Daniel Campbell, one of the most prominent Masons of the district and a charter member of the Blue Lodge, Unity Chapter No. 116, and of Glendale Commandery No. 53, also past patron of Glen Eyrle Chapter, O. E. S.

Other officers elected were Sir Geo. U. Moyle, generalissimo; Sir R. V. Hogue, captain general; Sir Robert Grumbling, senior warden; Sir W. W. Worley, junior warden; Sir Frank H. Vesper, treasurer; Sir Charles C. Rittenhouse, recorder.

The installation of these officers will take place May 23, the ceremonies being semi-public, i. e., the families and friends of members will be guests of the commandery. On that occasion, Past Commander General Wankowsky will act as installing officer, Past Commander Bledsoe will be master of ceremonies, and Grand Prelate Judge Thomas will be the installing prelate.

Sir Mark T. Lee was in line for the office of junior warden, but declined to accept it because he felt unable to give the necessary time to the work.

COMMUNITY CONCERT NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Music lovers of Glendale should not miss the community concert to be given Friday night, May 6, at the high school by the Glendale Music Club, assisted by the Madrigal Club, the Girls' Glee Club of Glendale high, the Nevin Quartette, and solo artists belonging to the club. Members of the organizations that are participating in the program are entitled to one guest ticket. Additional guests will be expected to pay 25 cents at the door.

Place an old blanket or several newspapers under the oilcloth on the kitchen table and it will last twice as long.

PRINTERS STRIKE FOR 44-HOUR WEEK

(By International News Service)
PITTSBURG, Pa., May 3.—Printers in 131 commercial printing offices here walked out this morning in the nation-wide movement of the International Typographical Union for a 44-hour week. There are 1800 printers out here. Newspaper offices are not affected. Only a few one-man job shops were operating today.

The printers now received $45 a week for 48 hours. They want $44 for 44 hours.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Between 2000 and 3000 union printers and bindery workers walked out on strike here today. H. G. Cantwell, labor commissioner of the Franklin Typothetae of Chicago, declared the strike closed every job printing plant in the city. The men quit work because their demands for a 44-hour week were not granted.

CHARGED WITH HUSBAND'S DEATH

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 3.—Mrs. Lillian Rowland was arraigned in police court here today on a charge of murder—the slaying of her husband, Dr. Thomas J. Rowland. Dr. Rowland was shot to death in his apartment early yesterday.

Beside Mrs. Rowland when she faced the court was Mrs. Nellie Malloy, mother of Julia Irene Malloy, the 19-year-old office assistant, who is the third character in the "triangle" that is believed to have been responsible for the slaying of Dr. Rowland. It is declared that Dr. Rowland and Miss Malloy had been intimate for several years. Mrs. Malloy, mother of the girl, said she would stand by Mrs. Rowland and do all she could to help her.

Mrs. Rowland, according to the police, has confessed she shot her husband when he attempted to attack her during a quarrel. She was held in bonds of $10,000 and a continuance ordered until Thursday to await the outcome of the coroner's inquest.

TOYKO MARU BURNS; SURVIVORS ABOARD BUFORD

Seventy-four Persons Aboard and Only One Life Lost and Eight Missing After Thrilling Rescue at Sea—Fire Drove Passengers and Crew to Lifeboats

ONE LIFEBOAT REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SUNK

Transport Buford Proceeding to Seattle With Rescued on Board—Remained on Scene Four or Five Hours Giving First Aid and Searching for Others

(By International News Service)
ASTORIA, Ore., May 3.—With 65 survivors of the ill-fated steamer Tokyo Maru aboard, the transport Buford is proceeding to Seattle today, after a thrilling rescue at sea.

Seventy-four persons were aboard the Tokyo Maru which burned to the water's edge.

Reports early today stated one life was lost and eight were missing.

Wireless dispatches to this port stated that the revenue cutter Snohomish was standing by the charred hulk of the vessel, hoping to pick up more survivors. The steamer Santa Alicia also was scouring the vicinity for missing victims.

Bound for the Orient, the Tokyo Maru left Portland at 7:15 p. m., Sunday. The Tokyo Maru sent S. O. S. calls at 4:30 p. m., yesterday, while 70 miles south of Columbia river. The Buford answered immediately and was within hailing distance of the Japanese liner in 30 minutes.

Scarcely had the wireless signals been sent, however, when fire poured forth from the bunkers, driving the passengers and crew to the lifeboats.

Women and children went first, among them five Japanese babies, their mothers and a few other Japanese women. By the time these few survivors had put away from the vessel the heat had become so intense and the flames so threatening that several persons leaped into the sea.

One of the lifeboats was reported to have sunk, plunging its occupants into the sea, and it is supposed the missing were lost from this boat.

The Buford was on the scene a few minutes later and immediately began picking up occupants of the lifeboats and other victims swimming in the water. The army transport remained at the scene for four or five hours, giving first aid to the injured and looking for other possible survivors.

MRS. W. C. LEASH'S BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. W. C. Leash of 337 West Vine street celebrated her birthday anniversary last Sunday with a dinner at which her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bowers of Los Angeles, were guests and covers were also laid for Mr. and Mrs. William W. Crosby of Linwood, Mrs. Minnie Nichols and son of Pasadena, the host and hostess and their family.

The little Misses Taylor, aged 9 and 11, told how he had promised them money if they would accompany him for an auto ride and had also used lecherous words that disclosed his purpose toward them. Strange to say the only charge on which the man could be held was that of disturbing the peace. Notice was given by the prisoner's attorney, Guy Eddy, of an appeal, but he afterward told Judge Lowe he thought it would be dropped and the prisoner serve his time.

LEGION MAY INSCRIBE NAMES ON U. S. FLAG

(By International News Service)
BOSTON, May 3.—American flags owned and displayed by American Legion posts may be suitably inscribed with the names of battles and other inscriptions emblematic of the soldiers' valorous deeds in France as the result of a bill signed by Governor Cox. The state anti-abuse-of-the-flag law of 1917 prohibited the marking or use of old Glory for advertising purposes. Only the flags of the Grand Army and Spanish war units were permitted to be inscribed. The new law adds the American Legion to the two exempted groups.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GOES TO LOS ANGELES

Members of the Girls' Glee Club of Glendale high went to Los Angeles under the chaperonage of their director, Mrs. Dora Gibson, to participate in the program given this afternoon at Normal Hill Center, which is concerned with music in the schools.

GLENDALE NEEDS OWN POSTOFFICE

Postcard Canvass of 250 of the Men and Women in Glendale Shows That People Desire Better Mail Facilities for This City—Will Prepare Suitable Petition

Last evening the postoffice committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce met in the office of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, chairman, and took up the matter of the establishment of an independent postoffice here in our city. There were present the following members of the committee: Dr. Henry R. Harrower, chairman; A. T. Cowan, Thomas D. Watson, A. R. Eastman and James Howarth. The latter was elected permanent secretary of the committee. W. E. Evans, recently city attorney of Glendale and an intimate friend of Congressman Walker Lineberger, was good enough to come to the meeting and give his impressions and advice.

Dr. Harrower announced the results of a postcard canvass of 250 of the prominent business men and women in Glendale, which asked for their attitude in the matter, i. e., whether they were in favor of or opposed to the establishment of an independent postoffice and also their reasons. One hundred and nineteen of these cards were received by Dr. Harrower, 75 of which indicated that they were in favor of an independent office because of the need of better service. Twenty indicated that the growth of the city made it imperative. Eleven wanted an independent office in order that the city of Glendale might be listed in the postal guide. Six spoke of civic pride which demanded a postoffice and a federal building for a city of this size, and five called attention to the fact that a postmaster in Glendale would place someone in authority to whom complaints could be made and also the needs and the service would be improved by someone directly in charge instead of by an officer in a remote city.

Only three were opposed and no reasons were given except that one thought we needed a sewer system worse than a postoffice!

The chairman had made a very careful canvass of the situation by both visits and letters, and outlined the possible advantages as well as any prospective disadvantages, and while considerable attention was paid to the latter, it does not seem advisable to take space to refer to them here. Without a doubt the principal reason for the need of a postoffice in Glendale is that our civic position demands it and that there will be more likelihood of our having a federal building in Glendale in the course of time if there is an independent office here, as, of course, there would be no chance of such an improvement to house a more or less insignificant branch of the Los Angeles postoffice.

It was pointed out that the prospects of securing an appropriation for a site and later for a federal building are not good at present, but it was also remarked that if it was going

ELLIOTT-HENDRICK SHAKESPEAREANS ARE ENTERTAINED

On May 1 at 9 o'clock, one of Glendale's popular young men, Howard Elliott and Miss Hulda Hendrick were quietly married at the home of the bride in Azusa, Rev. Mr. Smith of the Baptist church performing the ceremony.

The home was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, pink and white predominating. An elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Covers being laid for the bride and groom, their immediate families, a school-girl friend of the bride and a boyhood friend of the groom. Many beautiful gifts were received. Following the wedding breakfast, the happy couple left for San Diego for a short honeymoon, and on their return, will make their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Elliott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Elliott, 408 Ivy street, coming to Glendale over 14 years ago. He is a trusted employee of the Paul G. Hoffmann Company of Hollywood. Mrs. Elliott, the bride, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hendrick, prominent residents of Azusa and she is very popular in the younger set.

LEWIS-STARR

Mrs. Edith Lewis, a former resident of Glendale, on Friday afternoon was united in marriage to Paul Starr, the wedding taking place in the study of Rev. C. M. Calderwood, only intimate friends of the contracting parties being present. Following the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William MacMullen at 215 North Brand, where a wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Starr will make their home in Bell.

CHURCH LADIES PLAN FOR MAY FESTIVAL

Ladies of the Church of the Holy Family are deep in plans for their May festival which they will hold at La Ramada, on next Saturday afternoon and evening.

Booths where aprons, fancywork, quilts, toys and other customary bazaar articles are featured, have been erected or are in the course of construction. A country store will be another attraction and light lunches will be served during the afternoon and evening; baked beans, potato salad, "hot dogs," cake, pie, coffee and ice cream are on the luncheon menu.

An interesting entertainment program is also being arranged for the event.

GLENDALEANS ENJOY SHRINE FESTIVITIES

Quite a delegation of Glendaleans attended the Shrine festivities at Pomona Sunday, the entertainment including a barbecue in Ganesha Park, which was preceded by a parade and followed by initiation ceremonies in the Greek theater. The Glendale party numbered 35 or 40 and included C. E. Neale, D. Ripley Jackson, Harry Betz, Julius Kraatz, W. S. Ratray, Mr. Hill and many others.

EAGLE SCOUTS HAVE A CLUB MEETING

The Eagle Scout club of Troop No. 2, Glendale, was entertained at the home of their scoutmaster, Benjamin Robison, sr., 407 North Louise street. The council of braves was called to order by Big Chief Eagle Benjamin Robison, jr., and among the things considered at the business meeting were the selection of an appropriate name, oath and ceremonies for various occasions. The name chosen was "The Tribe of Ho-Wah-Kaus."

After the ceremonial dance, delicious ice cream and cake were served by the host and hostess, and all had a jolly good time.

The club is one of a very few in the United States and is the only one of its kind, following out the old Indian customs. It is strictly an Indian club and only Eagle Scouts can become members.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Handsomely engraved cards have been received by the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Alexander Lewis in which Mrs. Bertha Wilson announces their marriage April 19, in the city of Yonkers, and giving their residence as 26 Rollins place, Yonkers, N. Y.

C. OF C. ADVERTISING COMMITTEE MEETS

The advertising committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, of which H. S. Webb is chairman, met at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters Monday evening and approved the draft of a booklet, descriptive of Glendale, to be published by the chamber and given out to inquirers seeking facts about our city.

Those present at the meeting were H. S. Webb, Robert M. Yost, Robert H. Cowan, E. G. Gibbs and Secretary Rhoades; also Edward Evans, the gentleman last named addressing the committee relative to an advertisement in an Elks' magazine to be given away as a souvenir during the Elks' conclave in Los Angeles. It was deemed inadvisable for the chamber to appropriate any considerable sum owing to the smallness of its advertising budget, but the secretary was instructed to cooperate with Mr. Evans in interesting business men of Glendale in the project, in cooperation with the chamber.

In general discussion concerning the features of Glendale to be advertised, Mr. Yost strongly urged publicity in regard to the zoning plan which the city has under consideration. He stated that easterners have come to realize the menace to investment when there is no zoning law to protect a resident against some structure being erected alongside his home which will utterly wreck its value. He said he considered it most important to the welfare of the city that the zoning plan should be carried out and be well advertised among inquirers seeking residence in Southern California.

SCIENCE CLASSES ENJOY EXPLORATION

Eighty-seven members of the Glendale high school science classes, piloted by their teacher, Professor Alfred Cookman, enjoyed a day of exploration and investigation at Sierra Madre camp in the Big Santa Anita canyon on Saturday.

Chaperoned by several mothers of the students, the party left Glendale early Saturday morning, 62 of them on a large truck, the others in private machines. Arrived at the foot of the trail in Sierra Madre, they hiked up the mountain where birds, flowers, snakes and insects were the subjects of their study. Wild flowers, insects and lizards were among the specimens brought back, also a king snake for Mr. Cookman's collection.

Members of the Audubon Society and also members of Dr. Edwards' nature study classes were met on the trails, and also fishermen getting ready for the opening of the trout season.

This was the science classes' annual excursion and is pronounced the most satisfactory one in every way.

MANY PECULIAR ANGLES IN WRECK

The awful tragedy which yesterday caused the death of a bright, happy young woman, and the serious injury of her sister, had many peculiar angles. One man who claimed to have been an eyewitness of the affair said Miss Eukenie Lindsay's body was dashed through the closed body of the smashed auto and then hurled 25 or 30 feet through the air, finally striking C. C. Haggood, who was waiting for a north-bound car. The machine, checked in its career by striking a trolley pole, followed and landed on both broken and bruised bodies. Mr. Haggood's legs were badly wrenched and he received many cuts, abrasions and bruises. Henry W. Butts of Long Beach, formerly proprietor of the B. & D. grocery at 1502 South San Fernando road, was standing close to Mr. Haggood, but received only minor injuries. While the coupe body of the Ford was smashed to pieces, even the cushion of the seat being torn in half, the chassis was little damaged. Not one of the four wire wheels suffered injury, though one tire was torn off, and the bumper was not even bent. The body of the car evidently received the full impact of the crash against the trolley pole, and this is what caused the damage, as the auto was pitched straight through the air about 30 feet, after striking the pole.

PRICE OF CRUDE OIL MAY BE INCREASED

(By International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., May 3.—Pennsylvania oil producers are beginning to feel that not only has the bottom been touched at $2 per barrel, but that the near future will see a rise in the price paid by the refiners.

Pennsylvania grade of crude oil is so much sought for because of the fact that it produces a high percentage of gasoline, and then leaves a residue from which are refined heavy and light motor oils, lubricating oil, kerosene, naphtha, petroleum jelly (vaseline) and axle grease. From the mouth of the wells is gathered a sticky accumulation that, after being refined, produces paraffine, the residue being crude oil.

No other grade of crude oil in the world is so versatile as that produced in the Pennsylvania fields. Because of this, wells which of themselves may only produce half a gallon a day are for pumping purposes considered valuable. Small producers are often linked together to the number of half a hundred and pumped with one engine. Although the oil fields in Pennsylvania, especially in the northwestern part of the state, have been operated continuously for more than half a century, there is no sign that the average production available for years past is being depleted. New wells, even if they start off at ten barrels or better, seldom hold up more than a few days, and usually settle down to a small production on steady pumping.

Even the reclamation of wells abandoned many years ago because of having been flooded by water, has failed to create a surplus of Pennsylvania crude of any consequence.

Premium on California Crude
When Pennsylvania crude, starting in January of this year, dropped from $6.10 a barrel to $3 a barrel in less than two months, producers immediately stopped all plans for further drilling, except where contracts had been let before the decline. This has further served to deplete the reserve supply, which has each month since the first of the year been growing less.

Shutting off of drilling operations in western and southern fields has further served to affect the market, and as a result Oklahoma and California grades have within the past few weeks been placed on a premium basis. In view of the fact these grades are commanding about one-third the price at which Pennsylvania crude is being quoted, producers in the Pennsylvania field are looking forward to an increase in oil prices in this field in the near future.

Prosperity in Wake of Rise
A higher price for Pennsylvania crude means added prosperity for all of western Pennsylvania, a portion of West Virginia and southwestern New York state.

An increased price for crude oil may also be taken as a favorable indication for the country as a whole, as only through industrial resumption and increased demands for lubricants and fuel oils are crude prices affected.

LOT SALES ACTIVE AROUND LA RAMADA

Burton & Chandler report a great demand for lots in the neighborhood of La Ramada since that property was sold to the Misses Baldwin. Ten lots were sold Saturday and Monday, most of them to local buyers. They ranged in price from $850 to $5500, the more expensive lots being on Brand boulevard. Mr. Burton says, all thanks to the contrary notwithstanding, La Ramada is not on the market, that it has not been purchased for a hotel site, and that the present owners plan to develop it along the lines of a high class amusement park.

TWO PAIRS OF TWINS ARRIVE

(By International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, May 3.—The birth of two sets of twins in the same house within 24 hours, in which one pair was left with one family and the other pair with other parents, was the unusual achievement of the stork in a recent visit he made at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Warren are the proud parents of one pair of the quartet of babies. The second visit of the stork a few hours later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. McFarland was thinned with sadness, for one of the infants died a few hours after birth.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

(By International News Service)
The home run knockout between Babe Ruth and George Kelly has taken interest away from the pennant races around Gotham.

Kelly slammed out his seventh with a runner on as a climax to the big Giant first inning drive that enabled them to coast home against Boston.

Babe Ruth's sixth homer was made in Boston at the expense of Sam Jones, but Sam kept seven hits scattered and beat the Yankees.

Josh Billings of the Browns got the one hit yesterday. But that hit came in the 12th and drove home the winning run against Detroit.

Ince Dodgers capped their 11th straight game by beating the Phillies with Hubbell pitching. Two triples by Koney helped.

Timely hitting by Carey, Cuthaw and other members of the Pirates, spelled defeat for the Cubs.

Dugan's home run and doubles by Dykes and Witt, put across a victory for the Athletics against Washington.

MANY LAVISH SCENES IN "THE FURNACE"

"The Furnace," William D. Taylor's new special production for Realart, which is being shown today only at the Palace Grand theater, is declared to be one of the richest pictures in spectacular scenes and lavish settings which has been viewed for some time past.

The picture is adapted by Julia Crawford Ivers from a new English novel by "Pan," which is just off the press.

The cast is all-star, including Agnes Ayres, Jerome Patrick, Theodore Roberts, Helen Dunbar, Betty Francisco, Milton Sills, Fred Turner, Mayme Kelso, Lucien Littlefield, Robert Bolander and others.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN BARRED FROM PENSIONS

(By International News Service)
PARIS, May 3.—As a means of encouraging French parents to have more children a special bill passed in parliament promises government aid to parents of large families. A Frenchman, the father of three children less than 14 years old and still living, will receive an allowance of 360 francs per year at the birth of the fourth child. He will receive a further grant of 350 francs for every child born after the fourth. Parents subjected to income tax will not receive any grant.

MUSIC

Chautauqua is a veritable festival of music. Lieurance's Little Symphony Orchestra is scheduled for two notable concerts. Then there is the Sam Lewis Company, headed by the prominent Welsh tenor, Sam Lewis; the Orpheus Four, America's foremost male quartet; the Jugo-Slav Tamburica Orchestra; Walter Jenkins; the Roach-Freeman Company. Twelve concerts in all—certainly the music alone is worth far more than the cost of the season ticket.

LECTURES

Many notables appear on the Chautauqua lecture staff this season. Stefansson, the famous Arctic explorer, is one of the head-liners. Peter Clark Macfarlane, noted American writer, is another. Add to these two celebrities the name of Tom Skeyhill, just back from Russia; Hunt Cook of the Chicago Art Institute; Father Croning and Burnell Ford, inventor and electrical scientist.

ENTERTAINMENT

An outstanding entertainment event is scheduled for the fifth night in a big play production presented by the Keighley Broadway Players with an all-professional cast. Another entertainment feature of note comes in the two programs to be presented by Ada Roach and Ruth Freeman on the second day. This is a duo with a country-wide reputation.

THE CARS MUST RUN MORE SLOWLY

A collision yesterday between an automobile and the Burbank car at the Los Feliz crossing on Brand boulevard resulted in the death of one young lady, Miss Eugenie Lindsey of 426 South Manhattan avenue, Los Angeles, and the serious injury of her sister, Miss Sarah. Complaints reach the office of The Press frequently of the high rate of speed made by the Pacific Electric cars while passing through Glendale, and in connection with the accident yesterday it has been reported that the cars were going at a rate of over 40 miles an hour. If this is correct the penalty should fit the crime. There is an ordinance limiting the speed of cars in Glendale territory to 20 miles an hour, and the enforcing of the ordinance may help to prevent future accidents. We are informed that South Pasadena has a similar ordinance, and arrests of car crews are frequent upon the charge of exceeding the speed limit. The residents of Glendale will insist that steps be taken by the trustees to prevent the recurrence of the lamentable accident of yesterday and the enforcement of Ordinance No. 400, bearing upon this question.

STARTING IN

A shrewd observer remarks, "our national legislature never seems to learn anything from its own experience. Its shifting membership seemingly does not read the Congressional Record or study the reports of its committees." Any citizen who has tried to do so will not greatly blame the congressmen. As a result, "whenever it is necessary to educate new members regarding old subjects (and nearly all legislative subjects are old) hearings are arranged and Congress starts in again in the primer class." This explains much that would otherwise be a mystery. Private citizens observing how this or that public problem has seemed to find final solution in some particular session of Congress, as a result of a political campaign and prolonged investigation and debate, are usually surprised and disgusted to find, within a few years, that the conclusions arrived at so laboriously are quite disregarded. The explanation is that, while the critical citizen's observation has been continuous and his memory good, the majority of legislators, being new, are making a fresh start.

Thus every new Congress in turn has to be educated. Then, by the time it begins to get its bearings and have some knowledge of the past, and some sense of the permanence of its problems and the consecutive nature of government—it is turned out of office, and in comes the primer class again.

Inexperience has its advantages, in freshness of viewpoint and freshness of contact with the people, but it takes experience to make statesmen.

LOYALTY

Loyalty is something better understood than expressed in cold type. It is the inspiration in home and public life. It welds divergent groups together in the community. It presents a united front against insidious propaganda that attempts to undermine the sturdy Americanism of youth.

Loyalty has a new meaning since the World war. Many of our young men have returned to their homes actuated by deeper motives than they could have understood when drafted and sent away to the training camps to be worked into the magnificent fighting material of the American Expeditionary Forces.

The young fellows are back among us. Many have returned to college life. Many have their old jobs back. But unfortunately there are those who risked all they had for the rest of us, who still are jobless and almost penniless. Even if they may not be quite as fast in their work since German shell maimed them or shocked them, they are still Americans and ex-soldiers. It makes us feel sad to see so many in Los Angeles apparently unable to get work. In times like these it is natural for the business houses to reduce their forces and pare down overhead.

But is not loyalty something more than loyalty to flag? Is not something due those lads who cheerfully went over the other side or to the training camp? When you see the flag wave or are inspired anew by patriotic feeling, will you not also have a thought for the poor lads who are without work, and by advice or suggestion, or by the warm hand, put something in their way if you can?—Lamanda Park Herald.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The students of more than 40 colleges and universities were represented at a recent intercollegiate conference on student government. "To improve the government of the students by the students" was one of the chief aims of the conference.

The questions considered covered a wide range and included the four general headings of student government, athletics, publications and dramatic and musical clubs. The sort of relationship which ought to exist between the governing body of a school, and its undergraduate social, athletic and professional activities, and between undergraduates and alumni furnished the subject for many small group discussions.

Student government in the higher institutions of learning is becoming quite general. Leading educators have expressed the belief that students of college rank are harmed rather than helped by discipline imposed from above by school authorities. They need greatly to assume the responsibilities of self-discipline. The dean of one institution where there are no faculty or executive restrictions on students asserted that great value lies in such practice. It requires students to use their own initiative and gain experience in carrying the resultant responsibility.

A state university in the West has a student council which this year, of its own volition, made a regulation requiring all social affairs to end at 11:30 p. m. In other institutions students have perceived that the swing away from undue restraint and narrow convention has gone too far and are themselves taking the necessary steps to bring their affairs back to a sane and wholesome basis.

Some people who cast their bread upon the waters, expect it to come back buttered.

GRAVE AND GAY

DIDN'T FORGET OTHERS

"Have you said your prayers?" asked Willie's mother.
"Of course!" replied the child.
"And did you ask to be made a better little boy?"
"Yes, and I put in a word for you and father, too."

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING

When mother brought Laura and Harriet a box of animal crackers, to be equally divided, Laura said:
"I tell you what we'll do: we'll choose letters."
"How is that?" asked Harriet.
"I'll choose some letters and you choose some letters and then we'll take the animals whose names begin with those letters."
Quick as a flash Harriet exclaimed: "I'll take 'L.'"
Suspicious, Laura inquired: "Why are you so anxious for that letter?"
"Because," replied Harriet, "then I'll get all the 'Iphants.'—Youngstown Telegram.

NOT A GOOD JUDGE

He was a very small boy, and the apples he was eating were very large. He eyed them for ten minutes, longingly, and furtively, while the greengrocer bustled about serving customers. Now he edged near the tempting basket. Now he edged away again. And at last the greengrocer thought it time to intervene.
"Now, then, Tommy," he exclaimed, "what are you doing?"
"Nothing," replied the small boy.
"Nothing, eh?" said the greengrocer.
"Well, it looks to me as though you are trying to steal those apples."
"You're wrong!" retorted the nipper. "I'm trying not to."—Answers.

TOO LARGE TO THROW

There was a load of bricks on the football ground in anticipation of some reconstruction work. An aged supporter of the club came up one day, eyed the bricks, and knelt his brows as if in deep thought.
When the secretary asked him what he was thinking about he said, quietly: "Why didn't you get 'arf bricks? They would have been much handier." "Handier?" echoed the secretary.
"Why, man, we couldn't build a pavilion with half bricks!"
"Oh, a pavilion!" sighed the old man. "I thought they were for the referee."—Houston Post.

GET RID OF THAT GROUCH

Suppose your toast was burned or cut too thin or too thick, or there was a button off your shirt and a hole in your sock.
Perhaps the children awoke too early and disturbed your morning snooze and your wife was late with breakfast.
Your grouch did not cure the trouble, and you punished yourself the most of anyone.
Morning is usually trying, in most households, and your home is not the exception; all homes have annoyances and disappointments.
But that grouchy feeling will not expedite matters at your office.
You will be more tired when you get home at night if you are sour all day. Those who work under you will reflect your ugly mood—so more trouble.

If you are under some other person, you are going to put a black mark next your name every time you show up for work when you are harboring a feeling of ill will toward anyone.
Every day you put yourself in the power of a grouchy feeling you have lost a day of enjoyment you can never make up.

THINK OF THE OTHER FELLOW

If you have a selfish spirit which controls you, you do not get much out of life.
If your aversion is not satisfied, you get grouchy; does it pay?
Unless you are so hardened against the better impulses of human nature that you take no interest in this subject you will find, if you try it out, that the pleasure you can afford others will afford you the greater enjoyment.

The man or the woman incapable of feeling anything of this sort is to be pitied, for they miss the greatest thing in life.
Self-gratification limits your scope, your sphere, your interests and makes you old before your time.
The absence of the spirit of good fellowship and interest in others takes a lot of your life.
When the good fortune of a friend makes you feel good, when the division of what you have with another who is more needy warms your heart, then and then only are you living the sort of life which is worth while.
To a person who is always looking for self advantage loses more than he gains in the long run, so curb your selfish spirit.

MAKE A JOB OF ANY JOB

Delivering the goods, not getting the order, is what comes big.
When you apply for a position don't tell your prospective employer what a valuable person you could be to him. Ask for a trial and tell him if he is not perfectly satisfied with you, after that, he has the privilege and your consent to discharge you.

The man who proposes such a bargain usually wins a trial at least, and is a man of this sort who knows he can deliver the goods who gets the steady position.

Nearly every applicant for a position is positive in the assertion that he or she is able to perform the duties of the office desired.
Some men and some women when they apply for a job ridicule the idea that they might not be able to fill the place and thus belittle the job.
They forget that it requires experience, skill and energy to perform the simplest thing as well or better than anyone else.

Even an unimportant position becomes distinguished according to how you work to achieve great things.

NOT A "CAMPBELLITE"

A young lady sitting at the breakfast table remarked:
"I think the movies are improving."
"I don't," said a young man, "they ought to show more historical plays on the screen."
"Yes," said an elderly lady, "something like the duel between Alexander Campbell and Aaron Burr would be appropriate. That would prove interesting."

"How much is it, uncle?" he was asked.
"Yo say how much? Jest whateben yo' all say, missus."
"Oh, but I'd rather you'd say how much, the lady of the house replied.
"Yes, ma'am. But, ma'am, Ah'd rather hab de 75 cents yo' all would gimme dan de 50 Ah'd charge yo' all."—Life.

NEW STORES ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

The facts bear out the assertions of builders that stores can be rented faster than they can be built. The building erected by Philip Parker on North Brand, which has just been vacated by painters and plasterers, is already occupied. The Shu-Bar Music company has taken the store at 211, and the store at 209 has been secured by a Los Angeles business man who says he is an old resident of California and has had his eye on Glendale for a long time. The storeroom in the Cole & Damerell building on West Broadway adjoining the one now occupied by the Chamber of Commerce has also become a place of business for two real estate firms, Cole & Damerell and Salisbury & Kranz, who will use the rear portion, the front being taken by the Southern California and Metropolitan Loan Association.

TRYING TO SOLVE HOUSING PROBLEM

William MacMullin of the Edwards & Wilkey Company, is very cocky about the sales he is making in Kenilworth tract, which he would have the public believe is going like hot cakes. He makes it very plausible by his record of sales—two lots sold to Mr. Fisher of Doran street who has improved one with a house already sold and is building another on the second lot, two lots sold to another builder, a Mr. Hall who has started two houses, one of which has already been sold, two lots to Mr. Murphy on which he will live while building the residence with which he will improve the lots. Harry Michel is one of the contractors who has invested in lots for improvement and a new corner from Los Angeles is said to have spoken for 10.

MANY TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

Judge Lowe disposed of 42 cases of traffic law offenders yesterday. They are running about 75 a week now and will probably reach 100 or more the judge thinks, when both speed cops get "limbered up." They are so arranging their routes that no hint is given of where the lightning will strike next. "Ware the speed cop."

H. J. Vandehoff, who has been a resident of Glendale for about a year taking contracts for the building of houses, has just opened up a real estate office at 205 North Brand boulevard.

GLENDALE PAINT & PAPER CO. SOLD

Business Bought by William Hunter, Who Is Well Acquainted Here

The business of the Glendale Paint & Paper company at 119 South Brand boulevard, established by F. J. Kuntzner, has been sold by him to William Hunter of Alhambra, who is now established as proprietor and much pleased with his location. He has been in the paint business for many years, has been a resident of Southern California for 24 years, and has watched the growth of our city since it began to emerge from the brush before the Pacific Electric railroad came in. He had opportunity, because he sold paints here. He declares it is the best town in Southern California outside of Los Angeles and he knows what he is doing in coming here. He is looking forward to residing here, and will soon be joined by his wife and two babies. He is a Master Mason and is glad to know we have such thriving Masonic bodies here. He is also preparing to become a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Kuntzner expects to remain with him to close up the books before turning them over to him, and will then go down to her island cottage at Balboa for a rest. Mr. Kuntzner goes east the first of June on a business trip for the Matthews Paint company, with which he is now connected as manager of one of its stores.

PROTECTION OF BEES SOUGHT IN HAWAII

(By International News Service)

HONOLULU, Hawaii, May 3.—If you keep bees in Honolulu you must provide them with sustenance and comfort to which as bees, they are naturally accustomed, according to a bill which has been introduced in the territorial legislature of Hawaii. The bill is designed for the purpose of prohibiting apiaries in districts where there is no natural food for the bees, compelling them to invade the property of others for the sustenance. A fine of $1000 is proposed for a violation of the law.

SIGNS OF SPRING

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 3.—This year, as in previous years, it was not the first buds on the trees, the chirping of birds or the appearance of the first saw hat on the head of a cab driver that announced the arrival of spring to Parisians. When the first Paris beggar, squatting in the sun along the bank of the Seine, removed the socks he had worn all winter, washed them, carefully in the river, and then laid them out upon the stones to dry, the newspapers announced that spring had come.

PERSONAL MENTION

Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church, sold his handsome new bungalow at 224 South Kenwood, to N. H. Gowen of Los Angeles, formerly of 518 Oak. Mr. Gowen a few days later sold the property to John Strother for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Roth, who now occupies the property. Rev. Cole said to his congregation one Sunday, that no doubt many of them wondered how a poor preacher could build a new house for investment, but that the property was dedicated to the cause of the Lord in its conception. Every dollar realized from its sale goes into the new church building.

T. B. Gorrell, who at one time owned the Tropic Scentinel, and who returned to his old home in Louisville, Ill., following the death of his wife, recently met with a very serious accident. While descending the courthouse steps in Louisville, somebody at play behind him gave him a push which caused him to fall and break his hip. He has been helpless for weeks, but is said to be recovering.

The birthday celebration of the Long Beach Odd Fellows Lodge to which all the lodges on several of the country were invited, was attended by several representatives of the O. O. F. of Glendale, the party including Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Strother, Mrs. Malloy and others.

Miss Hattie Hobbs of Fresno, who motored to Hollywood for the weekend, made hurried calls on several of her many Glendale friends last Saturday evening. Miss Hobbs, a former city employee, is now connected with the Pacific Nash Motor Cars Corporation of Fresno.

Clay Marple, originally from Terre Haute, Ind., but recently from San Francisco, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sibley of the Brandale apartments. Mr. Marple still preserves an old picture of the two taken 28 years ago. He is planning to locate in Southern California and may possibly choose Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Catlin of 1010 East Lomita avenue, had as their weekend guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Heffer of Long Beach, old-time friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hill and daughters Miriam and Catherine, Mrs. L. L. Hill, son James and daughter Helen of Minneapolis, and Miss Hattie Hobbs of Fresno were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Brown, 416 North.

F. S. Card of 319 West Patterson street, who was called to Denver recently by the death of his old friend, Frank Goldsmith, has returned. He arranged for Goldsmith's two daughters to go to England to reside with relatives.

Mrs. S. E. Ross of Salt Lake City, a niece of Mrs. Laura Sibley of the Brandale apartments, is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. D. Redfern of 335 West Windsor road.

Mrs. John Crampton of 325 West Burchette street entertained yesterday and at dinner last night, her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Streton of Downey, and Mrs. W. C. Streton of Downey, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meyers of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Lawrence and Dr. and Mrs. D. Merrer of Portland, Ore., were the guests, Saturday, of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marshall, who recently bought and now occupy the fine Richardson property at 525 South Central. Glendale appeared very strongly to them and all expressed themselves to the effect that it is one of the beauty spots of California.

MARINE WORKERS IDLE IN NEW YORK

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 2.—Between 6000 and 10,000 marine workers were idle in this port today in the national ship-ping strike which threatens to paralyze all American deep sea traffic on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf of Mexico coasts.

The strike order was put into effect after a meeting at which the 45 per cent wage reduction urged by Admiral Benson of the shipping board was rejected by the marine engineers, firemen, cooks and stewards, and the international seamen's union.

The marine engineers took the lead and the officials of this and the other unions involved were emphatic in declaring that it was not a strike but a lockout. The chief ray of hope was that President Harding would appoint arbitrators and bring about a truce before the walkout extends any further.

FRENCH WOMAN LOSES LOTTERY WEALTH

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 3.—Shudden wealth won in a lottery has brought sorrow for Mme. Hofer, a woman employed as a servant in Paris, who in 1905 drew the winning ticket, worth $180,000, in the French Press Lottery.

She became for a time a character of national note, bought a house and a carriage, employed ten servants and lent money right and left to friends and other applicants. In six months she had only $32,000 of her fortune. This she has lost in speculation, in connection with which she has brought an action against her lawyer.

TO DISCUSS NEW INDEMNITY PROPOSALS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 3.—France is willing to discuss new indemnity proposals from Germany, but "France must have firm guarantees and securities that Germany will meet her just obligations," it was announced at the foreign office today.

Mr. and Mrs. Altsch who recently purchased five lots on Cerritos avenue through the agency of the branch office of Lusby & Campbell, are planning to improve them with a fine home which will soon be started.

Mrs. C. J. Orff and daughter, Miss Corinne of 464 Millford street, attended the Mission Play at San Gabriel, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Brice of 304 North Kenwood had as their guests on Sunday, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Christy of Downey.

C. D. Lusby reports that his son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. Harold Latter were disappointed in getting the apartment they expected to occupy in Berkeley, near the University campus and they are still looking as the housing situation there is about the same as here with regard to the shortage of houses. They are making their home for the time being with Mr. and Mrs. George Latter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Stinson have moved into the Brandale apartments from their home on Patterson avenue.

The Girls' Friendly Society will hold its regular meeting tonight in the Guild hall of St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wiebe and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Goertz were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Goertz of 347 North Central avenue.

Glendale friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. Arthur Edwards of Point Richmond have received dainty cards announcing the arrival of little Helen Louise on April 27. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Winifred Sadler who was connected with the city hall force for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey whose home at 215 West Los Feliz road was recently destroyed by fire are making plans to replace it with a picturesque adobe structure of Spanish style which will open on a patio. They are now making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Oliver Merrill on Campbell street, but Mr. Harvey is busy superintending the preparations for rebuilding.

Mrs. Henry Miller and son George of 457 Millford street were weekend guests of Mr. Miller at Mojave, where he is employed by the Southern Pacific Railway company.

Dr. and Mrs. Lestrang of San Bernardino were guests on Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Marlenee, 301 South Central avenue.

Mrs. J. H. Braly will be hostess to the General Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., at their meeting on Thursday, at her home, 505 North Brand boulevard. An interesting program has been arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Orff of 465 Millford street, recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Adams and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hammer of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ethel Klingerman and family of 210 East Palmer avenue, are moving to their new home, 313 North Isabel street, this week.

L. J. Massie, a wealthy citizen of Long Beach for many years, who gave to the Southern California Christian Missionary Association a splendid property on the slope of Signal Hill for an Old People's Home, is coming to Glendale to live. He has already rented a home in which to live while he builds a fine residence.

Mrs. George H. Bryan of 1011 East Lomita avenue is at the Glendale sanitarium in a critical condition as the result of an acute rheumatic attack.

"BLAME NOT THE GIRLS," SAYS CLERIC

(By International News Service)

ADAMS, Mass., May 3.—Not the girls themselves but the trend of the times was blamed for the clothes worn by young women of today by Rev. Thomas O'Connor, pastor of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church, in the course of a sermon delivered at the local church. Parents should exercise greater watchfulness and strict discipline over their daughters, Rev. Father O'Connor declared, and should set an example for young girls to follow. The local priest declared that the present styles have their origin in Paris, but that America is a country of fine purpose and aims and that its own styles should be good enough for its residents.

PLAN OCEANOGRAPHIC FOUR-YEAR EXPEDITION

(By International News Service)

LONDON, May 3.—An expedition—lasting three or four years and costing between $800,000 and $1,200,000—to explore all the great oceans of the world is proposed by the oceanographical members of the Royal British Association for the Advancement of Science, who hope that work will begin as soon as financial conditions have improved.

An attempt will be made to make the expedition, which will be led by Professor W. A. Herman, F. R. S., president of the association, as great as the Challenger, which, under Sir George Nares and Sir Wyville Thomson, in 1872-76, added enormously to scientific knowledge of oceans.

COUNTS CREATED FOR 100

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 3.—For $100 anyone can be a count, according to the weekly magazine Carnet de la Semaine. The tiny republic of San Marino, lying near the Adriatic, is so short of funds that it has created a number of titles and is selling them to wealthy tourists.

NEW 'FRIENDS' AT THE CITY LIBRARY

Summer is coming at the city library, as well as elsewhere in Glendale, and revisions of program are being made there. Mrs. Danford, the city librarian, says that book reviews, popular as they have been, will be abandoned for the hot months but resumed in the fall. In the meantime new books will be on display at the desk on Thursdays and attendants will be prepared to inform patrons of their character and merit.

When questioned relative to the effect of these reviews, Mrs. Danford said they had been of value in greatly increasing the interest in non-fiction books and in introducing late publications.

There are constant accessions to the library, not as many as the majority of patrons would like to see, but as many as the city trustees, who have control of the budget, think they can afford to buy. Among recent additions to the shelves Mrs. Danford mentioned the following: "Self Reliance," by Dorothy Canfield, which is of special interest to members of reading circles and P. T. A.'s.

Covers Physiognomy

"Characterology," is another valuable and suggestive work along this line, covering physiognomy, phrenology, etc. It is by Hamilton McCormick.

"Outline of History," by H. G. Wells, should interest many lovers of this brilliant versatile author of "War of the Worlds," "Mr. Brilling Sees It Through," and of many post-war magazine articles analyzing the political and economic situation in Europe.

"While Paris Laughs," gives an excellent picture of artist life in the Montmartre district.

"Women," by Arnold Bennett, is unique in its claims for attention. It endeavors to answer in a rational way, for women, the question, "After the Age of Forty, What?" Meaning with what new interests can women fill their lives when they lose the charm of youth and physical beauty.

Then there is an historical novel by Joseph Hocking, "The Sword of the Lord," the period being the time of the reformation.

"In Chancery," by Galsworthy, has been pronounced by critics as one of his best. In it he returns to the earlier manner which made his first

DUPED BY OLD 'CHARITY SWINDLE'

(By International News Service)
DENVER, May 3.—Using the age-old "charity game," in which money placed in a box is "switched" on the victim, swindlers here secured $3000, his life's savings, from Valentino Zancanello, Denver restaurant employe.

Recently a fellow countryman from Hungary met Zancanello. They talked of the "old country" and of sight familiar to both as children. Valentino invited his new-found "friend" to his home, and learned that the "friend" was in business and realizing excellent profits from his fruit stand in the downtown section. As the friendship became more firmly cemented the friend asked Valentino if he would not like to become a partner in the business.

It was a great opportunity, thought Valentino, and arrangements were soon made to form the partnership. After drawing his $3000 from the bank Valentino and his prospective partner started for the fruit stand.

En route the pair were accosted by a stranger, another compatriot from Hungary, who inquired the location of "the cathedral." He was given the information, but before parting made remarks that highly interested Valentino.

"I am going to die," said the stranger. "My time was gone. I want to see a priest, for I have $100,000 to leave behind me and I want it in safe hands—I want it distributed for charity."

A case of Symonovitch. The "stranger" manifested sincere sympathy for Valentino and at his suggestion all three went to the cathedral. The "stranger" failed to find the particular priest he was looking for, he told, he said, that the priest had died.

The "stranger" manifested great sorrow, he must have someone to care for his wealth after he was gone; perhaps the two kind countrymen were acquainted with some one who had several thousand dollars and who was capable of acting as a trustee for the "stranger's" fortune.

"Ah, yes," said the unsuspecting Valentino. He and his "friend" were just launching on a business proposition involving $6000. They could care for the larger sum.

The "stranger" was well pleased. For their kindness they would receive $10,000 to put in with their $6000.

The arrangement fairly overwhelmed Valentino with delight.

The "stranger" disappeared temporarily to secure the $10,000 "gift" for the pair. Upon his return it was decided that the $16,000 should be locked in box until night. Valentino stood by and watched the money counted—his own $3000, the $3000 of the "friend's," and the $10,000 contributed by the generous "stranger."

Valentino was an honest man, no doubt, so he was permitted to become custodian of the box until night. He took it home for safekeeping.

Bounding up the steps of his home, he gleefully told his wife of his great good fortune.

"I fear, you have been swindled," said the wife.

Valentino vehemently protested, de-

HARVARD ISSUES LABOR DICTIONARY

(By International News Service)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 3.—What is probably the first dictionary of labor terms as used by organized labor ever published has just been put out by the Harvard bureau of business research. The object of this bulletin is to provide a means of lessening the verbal misunderstandings which often cause or prolong disputes between employers and employees.

The bulletin contains definitions from the labor standpoint of several hundred terms, many of which, such as "open shop," "collective bargaining" and "union shop" are frequently used with different meanings by parties to labor controversies.

This effort to define what labor men mean when they use terms has been made for the purpose of enabling manufacturers and employers to secure a better understanding of the point of view of their men.

The bulletin is prepared primarily for employers, says Professor M. T. Copeland, because many terms are the subject of controversy and the need was felt of a means by which the employer might more quickly find out what the employee and particularly the organized employee, means when he uses a term often used by the employer in another sense.

"Collective Bargaining Defined." An "open shop" is thus defined from the labor point of view as "a plant in which both union and non-union labor is employed without discrimination," while "collective bargaining," the definition of which was a subject of controversy at the Industrial Conference at Washington, is said to mean "the negotiation of a trade agreement between one or more employers and one or more groups of employees acting collectively through representatives chosen by the respective parties."

The following explanatory statement appears along with the definition of "collective bargaining": "The term collective bargaining occasionally is applied to negotiations between an employer and representatives of the employees in his plant who are organized, usually under a shop committee system, with no outside affiliations."

WITH REFERENCE TO PIGS

(By International News Service)
WESTFIELD, Mass., May 3.—The board of health regulations in regard to keeping pigs are to return to the pre-war status. No pigs can be kept in the city limits except on streets where they were formerly allowed to be kept, in localities on the outskirts of the city, specified previous to the war ruling. Keepers of pigs must dispose of them by May 1 and will not be allowed to keep any more until October 15 except in the outlying districts.

claring that the $16,000 was safely locked up in the box. When the "stranger" and his "friend" failed to appear late that night Valentino and his wife opened the box.

There was $3 inside.

MAY GET FORTUNE FROM MILLIONAIRE HERMIT

One of the most amazing stories brought to light in New York has been revealed in the death of Calvin Amory Stevens, a millionaire, lived as a recluse in the heart of New York's financial district, while his wife and daughter lived in a beautiful mansion in Brooklyn. Complications have now resulted over the will. It is estimated he left a $15,000,000 estate. A few days before his death, his daughter, Katherine, eloped with Richard Fagan, a 20-year-old Dartmouth University student. Mrs. Fagan is 18 years old. The illustration shows Mrs. Jessie L. Stevens, his widow, his daughter, Katherine, and Calvin Stevens de Sousa, his 5-year-old grandson, who are expected to share in the fortune left by the eccentric millionaire.

AMERICAN NEWLY RICH IN EUROPE ARE BUTTS

The Last King on Earth Will Be an American Millionaire, Who Will Buy a Crown and a Nation—Americans Bolstering Up Ruined Monarchies

(By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, May 3.—"The first man to be king was a poet, and the last king to rule upon this earth will, without doubt, be an American multimillionaire, who will buy a crown and a nation."

Clement Vautel, French humorist, thus sums up the conclusions of a host of French writers who have been having a lot of fun at the expense of American millionaires whose money is bolstering up ruined monarchies of Europe.

"Official announcement of the engagement of young William Leeds to the Princess Xenia, niece of the king of Greece, has brought out all the time-worn jokes about Chicago pork-packers, who kidnaped daughters of bankrupt dukes; much to the delight of the dukes. The French papers recount all the adventures of Anne Gould with her count husband; the marriage of Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati to the Duke of Manchester and numerous other matrimonial alliances between American money and European titles.

Title Hunters Scarce
"We must admit that the Yankee millionaires are gaining ground rapidly," says Le Petit Bleu. "In the past they were content to marry daughters of dukes, barons or counts whose coat-of-arms had lost their gilt edge ages ago. But since the war the American millionaire has become a valuable article of importation."

"Now we learn that one of President Harding's subjects has announced his engagement with a princess—not a contraband princess, not a princess of recent nobility, not one of the kind of princesses that frequent our Paris night dancing clubs—but a real princess born in the shadow of a throne. They say that King Constantine first opposed the alliance, but that his hesitation was of short duration when he learned how much money young Leeds was bringing into the royal family."

Needed His Crown Repaired
"Vautel's version is slightly different. King Constantine pondered a moment, says Vautel, and frankly remarked:

"All right—my crown needs to be resoldered."

But, adds Vautel, there should be no objection to such alliances, providing one of the last "American kings" doesn't let his ambition run away with him and disturb Europe.

"After all," he writes, "one of these American kings of steel, or of pork, or of celluloid collars is the equal either of a small or a great princess. Furthermore, it is only just to say that William Leeds is a fine boy and that, despite the money he is taking into the adventure, it was also a love affair. Europe may expect to see others of the same kind."

WELL-KNOWN AUTHOR TO WRITE OF HAWAII

(By International News Service)
HONOLULU, Hawaii, May 3.—Fredrick O'Brien, author of "White Shadows in the South Seas," will write his next book about Hawaii, according to an announcement he made at Honolulu this month while passing through on his way to Samoa. O'Brien says that after the publication of "Mystic Isles of the South Seas," now in preparation, he will devote his attention to material he gathered about Hawaii when he was city editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu 20 years ago.

DISARMAMENT IS NOT KEY TO PEACE

(By EARLE C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 3.—Competition in armaments increases the dangers of war, but disarmament agreements can never be binding enough to lead the world toward permanent peace. In the opinion of General Sir Frederick Maurice, the noted military critic.

War in his opinion can only be permanently avoided by development of methods of settling international quarrels.

"There is a grave danger," he declares, "of a renewal of that competition in armaments which was one of the prime causes of the world war, and worse still, that the weapons of the future will certainly be far more terrible than the most terrific of which we have yet had experience."

The battleship of Jutland is already out of date. The tank of 1918, which played such a great part in winning the war, look like a common hack. Aeroplanes are increasing in range and weight, carrying power, and poison gases are more destructive of life than any yet used in battle.

Science and Destruction
"For the first time in history science was, during the war, mobilized for the purpose of destruction. It took time for scientists to realize fully the practical requirements of war, and to learn how to apply their inventions to the conditions of the field."

"In fact, the armistice came when science was only just getting into its stride, and horrible as was the destruction wrought up to 1918, it would have been far more horrible if the war had gone on into 1919, while if there is another European war, the destructive forces of 1919 will be relatively more insignificant than those of 1918 appear to us today."

In the next war no great city of Europe will be out of range, and there will be no non-combatants, and women and children will be exposed to the most horrible forms of death.

"Almost everything upon which the wellbeing of nations depends will be in danger. Therefore, the preservation of civilization, as we know it, the maintenance of peace, and the reconstruction of Europe depends upon whether or no we can find some means of settling disputes between civilized nations other than war. That is the root of the matter, and is the poison darts of the league of nations."

Victor Also Suffers
"No convention entered into today can prevent a scientist from working out a formula for some new and more deadly poison and keeping it locked up till it is needed; nor would it prevent the rapid conversion of chemical works to the production of poison in large quantities."

"If all war planes were abolished tomorrow by agreement, nothing could prevent the use of civil planes for destruction if war came."

"These agreements will not eliminate the dangers to civilization. The scientist will always have some all-powerful weapon ready for use at short notice."

"The danger can only be removed permanently by convincing the people of the world that war can never pay, and by providing them with more effective means of settling quarrels."

CAT CAME BACK TO LIFE NINE TIMES

(By International News Service)

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 3.—Max, the janitor at the police station, is firmly convinced that the saying in regard to cats having nine lives is considerably more than a saying.

A man brought three kittens to the station with the request that they be put where there would be no further worry over the high price of milk or the housing problem. The kittens were placed in the gas box in the basement constructed for the primary purpose of sending dogs on their long sleep, but occasionally tried out on cats. The gas was turned on and the pussies apparently gave up the ghost. Later they were found loudly calling for their breakfast, in lieu of which the gas was turned on for a second time, and for a second time the kittens went to sleep and awakened again.

Max says if the gas holds out he will endeavor to take the other seven lives which he is convinced they possess.

COERCIVE MILITARY ACTION DELAYED

(By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 2.—News that the allied supreme council had delayed for 12 days at least the coercive military action which France had planned against Germany, was received with undisguised satisfaction by officials here today. While not disposed to comment publicly on the situation, in the absence of official dispatches, high officials of this government nevertheless hailed the council's decision as a vindication of the attitude which this government has assumed from the beginning—that France would serve no good purpose in the general situation by taking summary military action against Germany.

THEATRE INCLUDED IN FRENCH BUDGET

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 3.—Many Frenchmen are finding much amusement in looking over France's budget for the coming year. Among other subsidies which the government will grant this year, figures an allowance of 25,000 francs for the Theatre Michel, at Petrograd. The Theatre Michel was founded by Frenchmen before the war and the government subsidized it to the extent of 25,000 francs. French taxpayers are wondering if this subsidy has figured in every budget since 1914.

DEBATES 'BATHING SUIT' LEGISLATION

(By International News Service)

HONOLULU, Hawaii, May 3.—Not since the day when Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, shocked high society of Honolulu by traversing the city from Waikiki beach in her bathing suit and appearing in that garb at an afternoon tea has the metropolis of Hawaii been so wrought up as at present when the territorial legislature is battling over a "bathing suit" bill which will compel the wearing of bathrobes over the abbreviated garments on the public highways.

The bill, introduced by a senator from the island of Hawaii, 200 miles from Honolulu, provides that only on the shimmering sands, and within a certain reasonable distance from the water, shall the human figure be seen adorned only in the garb of Annette Keilermann. The bill does not dictate the nature of the bathing suit nor endeavor to provide how much it must cover the body, but it does stipulate that it shall not be worn as a street dress.

Disrobe Miles Away

The proposed law has been brought about by complaints, so its author has told the senate, that both men and women, boys and girls, alleged vampires and so-called "flappers" are wont to disrobe at their homes or hotels as far away from the beach as two or three miles, and then, garbed only in one-piece bathing suits, amble leisurely along the broad highway to the sands of Waikiki. The bill allows for the donning of the bathing suit at any point in the city the bather desires, but it insists that on the promenade across the city to the beach a full-length bathrobe, or other overgarment, must be worn.

But the bill is not receiving the dignity the senator from Hawaii insists upon. It is being battered about from pillar to post in the senate. The last heard of it reference to the "educational committee" had been moved and carried.

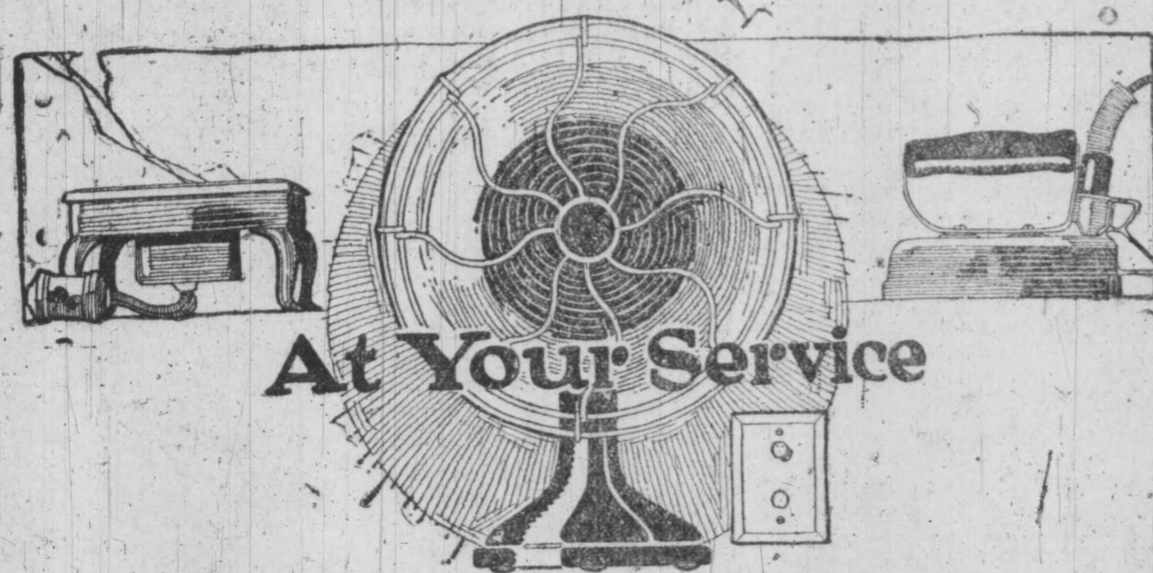

It might be added that the author of the bill is a minister of the gospel.
